

PRODUCT MANAGER

Based in London with some travel around the UK

About us

We are a diverse team of problem solvers looking for a product manager with a strong interest in making the world a better place.

Social Finance Digital Labs builds products that empower people to bring about positive social change. We're focussed on improving outcomes for vulnerable children in the UK - those that come into contact with the social care system. We collaborate with charities, social enterprises and government to develop tools enable them to deliver life-changing services.

You'll be joining the team at an exciting time as we launch our new product for Children's Services Departments across the country.

About this role

A product manager's job is to learn about the problem they're trying to solve so that they can build a product that's "valuable, usable and feasible" (see here). Product managers are the interface between people with a problem, the technology needed to solve it and the business.

As part of the team, you will support products through the whole journey from problem definition and research through prototyping, iteration, deployment and growth. You'll get out of the office and work closely with our potential users to co-develop products that will make a real difference.

You will work in a cross functional team of developers, UX designers and social issue experts. You will have a high degree of autonomy to achieve the goals that you set for yourself whilst being fully supported to develop your skills as a product manager.

About you

You'll be a product manager by nature. What we care about is that you think in the right way and are keen to learn. Here's what we think is important:

You love learning:

- You take an analytical, hypothesis based approach to problem solving.
- You're curious and want to understand how things work so that you can make them better.
- You're eager to collaborate and learn from different people, from developers to social workers to the vulnerable people we are trying to support.

You make things simple

- You can breakdown problems and identify where to start in order to quickly deliver impact.
- You can turn complex ideas and concepts into language anyone can understand.
- You can translate data and insights into solutions that address real world problems.

You care

- You build strong and trusting relationships.
- You're hands on and willing to do what is needed to help the team.
- You care about social issues – these are the problems you want to solve.

What You Get

- The chance to make an impact and help change the lives of those most in need
- Be part of a collaborative, flexible, and friendly environment
- Great location in Fitzrovia, only 10 minutes from Oxford Street
- Cycle to work scheme, childcare vouchers, interest-free travel loan
- 25 days annual leave
- Nespresso machines in the building and all the snacks in the kitchen
